

What is claimed is:

1. A novel foundation system comprising a selectively shaped cementitious pier with openings dimensioned and positioned to support plural driven piles wherein said pier is free from pile sleeves or integrated sleeve support structures with primary re-enforcing elements composed of dispersed steel fibers.